

10. fish international

February 12 – 14, 2006 Bremen Fair Center, Germany

fresh news

New markets and new topics ...

A fresh concept combined with a long-standing experience – fish international 2006, to be held in Bremen from 12 to 14 February 2006, furthers trade and promotes contacts. It is here that the international fish industry and the German market meet. Brand-new themes await professionals from the fish retail and wholesale sectors, the grocery trade, industry and production, catering, hotels and restaurants. The concept, strong partners, and long-standing and new exhibitors enable an extremely broad range of topics.

Klaus Hoffmann, Royal Greenland:

“As initiators in the Seafood industry we will present ourselves for the first time in the areas of GH/GV/C&C/ Central Eastern Europe and others with the main topic Wellness, “Low Fat”. We look forward to a formidable fair with an international audience.”

Lebensmittelzeitung will be there: at a special forum on Tuesday 14 February Werner Prill will look at issues that are of particular interest to buyers from the grocery trade.

At Kulinarium:

star chef Johann Lafer will answer the question ‘Which fish for which dish?’ and demonstrate delicious recipes based on different species. As well as offering fresh ideas for established fish and seafood species he will show how to prepare some of the new products presented at the fair.

Egbert Miebach, Deutsche See:

“fish international’s new orientation has convinced us. That’s why we booked a larger stand this time.”

In which direction is German aquaculture heading?

The "Aquaculture Forum" will open on Sunday 12 February with a discussion round presented by Dr. Manfred Klinkhardt, well-known editor from Fischmagazin.

Aquaculture away-from-home:

This will be the topic on Monday 13 February with the focus moving to the away-from-home sector and catering.

Blue Planet, one of the event's cooperation partners, will clear up any preconceptions and point to future chances and possibilities. Media partner GV Manager will present the programme and invite suppliers and catering buyers onto the rostrum.

Jaime Antonio, Pescafina/Spain:

"The German market is becoming increasingly important for us. That's why we can't leave fish international out."

Dr. Nguyen Huu Dzung, Vasep/Vietnam: "Naturally we made a lot of contacts with the European market at fish international 2004! We'll definitely be there again!"

Eastern Europe is a huge market!

The East-West-Forum will present individual markets and bring together decision-makers from East and West: producers, logistics experts, technology producers, raw materials suppliers ... will all present themselves at the fair, among them Gewürzmühle

Nesse, a company which has been successful in the Eastern markets for years and will also be bringing its business partners to fish international.

Discover your opportunities at fish!

fish international: The name vouches for the programme ...

Long-standing partner Sippo – 'International' with a capital !! Be it Bangladesh, Indonesia, Peru, or Ghana: Sippo brings young producers together with the European market.

Pangasius und shrimps from Vietnam – an almost unbelievable success story. Over 50 per cent growth on the European market during the last year alone. Big suppliers are expecting big business in Bremen.

Mytilus galloprovincialis

Never heard of it?

Well, you have now: the Spanish are coming! With new products and innovative ideas,

Spain is gaining a strong foothold in the seafood sector – See how it's done at fish international!

MGH MESSE- UND AUSSTELLUNGSGESELLSCHAFT HANSA GMBH

Bürgerweide
28209 Bremen
Germany

Phone: +49 (0) 421 3505 260
Fax: +49 (0) 421 3505 681
Email: info@fishinternational.com

Our partners

